Employers should review the points below and then decide whether to claim from the WDF:

WDF is a contribution to the cost of paid employees undertaking vocational qualifications, learning programmes and digital modules from our list of funded qualifications and learning and this funding allows you to claim from more than one source.

Oach funding source will have its own rules/requirements and it is the responsibility of the recipient of the funding to make sure that they understand and adhere to the rules of the funding that they are accessing.

The overarching principle of WDF is that employers cannot make a profit from their employees undertaking training.

Where employers are claiming from more than one source of funding they must ensure that they do not claim the same cost from more than one source as this would constitute double funding and is not allowed.

It is an employer's responsibility to ensure they do not claim more funding than the cost to them of hemployees undertaking training but direct costs such as course fees*, assessment costs*, hemployees undertaking training but direct costs such as course fees*, assessment costs*, hemployees undertaking training but direct costs such as course fees*, assessment costs*, hemployees undertaking training but direct costs such as course fees*, assessment costs*, hemployees undertaking training but direct costs such as course fees*, assessment costs*, hemployees undertaking training but direct costs such as course fees*, assessment costs*, hemployees undertaking training but direct costs such as course fees*, assessment costs*, hemployees undertaking training but direct costs such as course fees*, assessment costs*, hemployees undertaking training but direct costs such as course fees*, assessment costs*, hemployees undertaking training but direct costs such as course fees*, assessment costs*, hemployees undertaking training training but direct costs such as course fees*, assessment costs*, hemployees training training whilst undertaking the learning, expert witness testimonies and backfill if required (i.e. wage replacement costs) can be included for this fund. (*unless the course fee or end point assessment is paid by the apprenticeship levy)

Employers must ensure that they have records in place to evidence the costs of any funding claims they make.

This is a retrospective funding stream and all costs must have been incurred prior to claiming all contribution towards these costs from WDF. You cannot claim for costs that you have not directly incurred.
